

Dear Friends of The Oaksmere

We do hope that you are keeping safe, enjoying the summer weather and the added freedoms brought about in the latest step towards normality. Although very welcome, this brings about new challenges as we adapt to the loosening of legal restrictions and continue to provide both a duty of care for the safety of both our guests and The Oaksmere team.

Our team members will no longer be required to wear face coverings unless they wish to do so, will be regularly tested, and will continue to sanitise throughout their day. We also kindly ask that you continue to use the hand sanitising stations that are around the premises.

Here at The Oaksmere we are lucky to have plenty of space both inside and out and as such we are keeping the same social distancing space between tables and continuing the same cleaning regime between bookings. The NHS Test and Trace facility will be available for those wishing to check in and support this. Table service will still be offered in the bar and in our gardens, however you are now more than welcome to order drinks standing at the bar should you prefer.

The rule of six will no longer apply to bookings, so you are now free to book tables inside and out for as many guests as you like. Should you wish for a more intimate setting for larger groups then we have three beautiful private dining rooms, the perfect setting to catch up with friends and family or celebrate that important occasion that you have missed out on.

We do appreciate that everyone will be moving at a different pace as we ease out of lockdown, and we will be doing what we can to recognise this. Can we kindly remind everyone to be mindful of this and to treat our team and other guests with respect over the coming months as we all adapt back to normality. Following a difficult reopening in May with many unexpected staff vacancies, we now have a full Oaksmere Team once more, however there is the possibility that staff are asked to isolate at short notice so please bear with us should this be the case.

We very much look forward to welcoming you to The Oaksmere soon and thank you all for your continued support through these very surreal times.
